FileBox Solution

Do you know the situation when the volume of E-Mails bursts your mailbox and when you get worried about the unprotected exchange of sensitive E-Mails?

Classical encrypting procedures are usually time consuming and often require a complex infrastructure with all the communication partners.

In times of increased dangers from hacker attacks and industrial espionage, FileBox realises a fast, comfortable and economic exchange of sensitive data via the Internet. You only need a mobile phone and a PC with a Web browser. The authentication is effected by SMS token. A software installation is not required.

Secure transfer from A to B

File Box features multiple advantages. You can exchange data quickly and safely on demand - via a neutral infrastructure without implementation in your own network. The documents can be uploaded in different directories via the Internet and you can grant individual access rights to each partner. The integrated auditing solution enables the logging of the down- and uploads.

Operation as simple as can be FileBox offers various transfer options. If the partner already owns an account, documents can directly be exchanged. If not, you can install an access for third parties on your own account. Via the Fast Exchange function, there is also an option for an exchange with partners without a FileBox account.

Compliance with privacy policies

FileBox is ideal for companies who are submitted to legal restrictions and for whom the protection of business documents is of vital importance. Thus e.g. trustees can protect the financial data of their customers, medical doctors their patients' data and lawyers the data of their clients.
